PSALM 19:7-11

*The law of the Lord is perfect, converting the soul;
The testimony of the Lord is sure, making wise the simple;
The statutes of the Lord are right, rejoicing the heart;
The commandment of the Lord is pure, enlightening the eyes;
The fear of the Lord is clean, enduring forever;
The judgments of the Lord are true and righteous altogether.
More to be desired are they than gold,
Yea, than much fine gold;
Sweeter also than honey and the honeycomb.
Moreover by them Your servant is warned,
And in keeping them there is great reward.*

TO PARTS UNKNOWN

The call to missions carries an undeniably high cost. It is nothing short of a call to leave behind all that you know and to follow the call of Christ to parts unknown. There is simply no denying that this daunting possibility leaves many with concerns. Questions about finances, raising children, and distance from family are often the first to come to mind. However, there is nothing new under the sun. Missionaries throughout history have been confronted by these same concerns. The famous nineteenth century missionary David Livingstone addressed this very issue with these words.

"For my own part, I have never ceased to rejoice that God has appointed me to such an office. People talk of the sacrifice I have made in spending so much of my life in Africa. . . . Is that a sacrifice, which brings its own blest reward in healthful activity, the consciousness of doing good, peace of mind, and a bright hope of a glorious destiny hereafter? Away with the word in such a view, and with such a thought! It is emphatically no sacrifice. Say rather it is a privilege. Anxiety, sickness, suffering, or danger, now and then, with a foregoing of the common conveniences and charities of this life, may make us pause, and cause the spirit to waver, and the soul to sink; but let this only be for a moment. All these are nothing when compared with the glory which shall be revealed in and for us. I never made a sacrifice."

I concur wholeheartedly with David Livingstone. I never made a sacrifice in my years on the mission field. In fact, the mindset of a missionary is not "I have a duty to go!" but "If I get to go...." I and our current missionaries have dealt with these questions as well. And we submit to you their stories as well as their responses to such questions. From these words you will see that God is worthy of our "sacrifice" and faithful in it. We trust that Christ, who is sovereign over all, will use them to calm your concerns and draw you to serve Him to the fullest, whether that be in your home country or across the globe.

How will I raise my children? Am I not too old? What about marriage? Does Africa still need missionaries? Who will influence my grandchildren?

QUESTIONS

ERICA ROBERTSON

HEADMASTER—JOS, NIGERIA

Praise God that the abundant work to do among the Jews did not keep Paul from going out to the Gentiles! There is much to do in the U.S., but not at the expense of God's people around the world. After all, God loves His people in Africa just as much as His people in the U.S. I have served in Africa for seven years and have seen Africans experience poverty and scarcity of educational resources that I could not fathom. If we have the ability to teach African children to read, fill their empty tummies, and put God's Word in their hands, should we count them less worthy of that privilege than our countrymen?

YEEN-LAN LAM

VILLAGE ADMINISTRATOR—KAMPALA, UGANDA

I have been on the field since 30 January 1999. That is a total of 19 years 3 months now. There is plenty of work to do in Singapore, my home country. The biggest difference with working in Africa is this—the work God does in changing me. It is God's great gift to me that He sent me to Africa. Oh, the joy of being a co-worker with God in worthy labor. I see my work with Rafiki in Africa as a sacred trust from God.

KELLY FORE

HEADMASTER—NYAMATA, RWANDA

Single, 24 and on my way to Africa as a missionary, an older friend asked, "What about marriage?" I replied with the truths that anchored my heart then and still do today:

- God only gives me His best. If I get married—it will be His best for me. If I stay single—it is His best for me. Don't I want His best?
- Living in Africa will not inhibit God's plans for me regarding marriage. God's purposes for my life will prevail no matter where I am on the globe.

Singleness on the mission field can carry potential for loneliness. However, what an opportunity to experience the riches of God's provision through the body of Christ! Over and over again God has met my need for community and fellowship through His people. I enjoy a weekly meal with fellow missionaries. A peaceful Sunday afternoon is lingered through with other expats after church. Short-term missionaries have become life-long friends that email regularly. Some of my deepest and dearest relationships have been birthed and strengthened on the mission field—and oh the laughter—so much laughter! God truly "sets the lonely in families" (Psalms 68:6).

IRENE DAFOE

CHILDCARE ADMINISTRATOR—LUSAKA, ZAMBIA

Being an influence for my grandchildren was a concern. I was blessed to be part of their lives when they were young and in their formative years. The Lord gave me special opportunities to share truths about God and His love with them. But there came a time, an age, where time spent with Grandma just wasn't a priority. I asked God to use my example of following Jesus in overseas missions in a way that would impact their hearts and minds for His Kingdom. Almost five years ago, I left 16 grandchildren when I relocated to Zambia. Three more have been born since. So, I rest in Jesus' promises! Truly, in different ways, I have already received the blessings of God! Now I am the grandmother to 75 orphans!

VICKY AND MIKE KOCH

RICE DEAN AND VILLAGE ADMINISTRATOR—NYAMATA, RWANDA

We recently read a poster that said, "My happiest days were at grandma's house," and it made us have a bit of a pity party. We live in Rwanda, and our grandchildren don't get days at our house. We aren't there to go to their school plays, to go to church with them, to help with homework and put band aids on their scrapes. But, when we look back on our 15-year journey on the mission field, we think of God's amazing faithfulness to our entire family. We have discovered that He doesn't need us to be around for our grandchildren to turn out wonderfully. He does a much better job than we could ever imagine. God has worked through our children by leading them to Christ-centered churches and schools. So, what is our role as grandparents? To answer His call and step up and serve the incredible, Sovereign Lord. We are to teach by example. What would be teaching our children and our grandchildren if we didn't answer God's call? We must not put anything or anyone before the Sovereign Lord.

SARA AND PHIL NICKELS

WIDOWS PROGRAM COORDINATOR AND VILLAGE ADMINISTRATOR—MOSHI, TANZANIA

We moved to Tanzania in 2009. Raising our kids in Africa has not been without its challenges. Times of relative isolation, loss of regular interaction with extended family, and several bouts with parasites are experiences we would not have chosen. However, we see how even those hard times have been used (together with the blessed times of serving God as a family, experiencing other cultures, and living in this amazing place) for the good of the ministry, ourselves, and our girls. We are nearing the end of our elder daughter's senior year. At just the right time, God has led us to good school options, college admissions advice, and even ACT prep classes. Lydia will attend a selective U.S. university in the fall, and God has even provided a full scholarship for her.

JULIE AND DAVID PEDERSON

CHILDCARE ADMINISTRATOR AND RICE DEAN —NAIROBI, KENYA

We have been on the field for 20 years. We have four daughters. The older girls were five and two and a half years old when we moved to Madagascar. Olivia was 5 months old when we moved to Nigeria.

Being away from family has been the main hardship of living overseas. But God has given our daughters a very sweet relationship with family members despite the separation. The experience of living in three different African countries has given our children an ability to live simply, flexibly, and with an appreciation for the cultural differences of other people. They would not trade their African upbringing for all the world. Our children have received a mission school education that offered small class size and AP courses. Students with global experience are highly valued in the university setting. They all received scholarships to the universities they chose and were all in the honors programs. God provided financially from various sources and the girls finished well.

BARBARA EDWARDS

RICE DEAN—LUSAKA, ZAMBIA

Retirement is definitely a word people used when they heard that I was going to Zambia in 2014. From 2000-2014 I had gone as a short-term missionary to several Rafiki Villages. Those were short trips of 3-6 weeks, so those were "OK" with people. . .an African Safari Adventure with a little mission work included. But to go to Africa where there are Ebola, poverty, dangerous animals, lack of power, and contaminated water? "NO WAY!" My reply, and I intentionally tried to be kind and understanding with my words and expression as I asked, "Where do you find that teaching in the Bible? I don't see the word 'retirement.'" This reminds me of the time when my husband was going through treatment of pancreatic cancer, when he knew that he was soon to die at age 55. He wrote some words for me to share with friends and family at his funeral, and one of those phrases was, "Serve God now because we don't know our future. And this world and this life is not about us!" I am now 73 years old and have been here in Zambia since the fall of 2014.

MACIA AND PAUL FULLER

CHILDCARE ADMINISTRATOR AND PLANT MANAGER—MODJO, ETHIOPIA

We have been at Rafiki Village Ethiopia for four months of a year's commitment. It is our first ever missionary assignment. Paul celebrated his 72nd birthday last month surrounded by 52 Rafiki orphans, their Mamas and Village staff. I am looking forward to celebrating my 71st birthday in June with as much joy as he had.

Paul and I both are retired and grandparents. Being here in Ethiopia on the mission field has been the best "me" time that we could have ever imagined. We thank our LORD for the strength to be active and the privilege of being able to share in His work. There are always challenges but the blessing and joy of experiencing our LORD's enabling makes them as nothing.

ROSEMARY JENSEN

FOUNDER AND PRESIDENT—THE RAFIKI FOUNDATION

Dear Friends,

It gives me much joy to write to you some personal thoughts. I am now 87 years old even if I don't feel it and hopefully don't look it! What am I doing? Well, I am still working part-time at Rafiki and asking God to help me finish the work he has called me to do there. One of my favorite verses is Ephesians 2:10: "For we are his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus for good works, which God prepared beforehand, that we should walk in them."

One of the "unfinished" works that I undertook about four years ago is the establishment of the Rafiki Institute of Classical Education (RICE). RICE is a three-year teacher training school for those who want to teach either in Rafiki's Christian classical schools or in schools belonging to our Partner Denominations. RICE is a part of the education system that Rafiki conducts in order to raise the standard of living for Africans and to help them know God. The other parts of the system are the Rafiki schools for our orphan residents and day student program that brings into our schools many poor community children.

I am grateful for all God has done to bring Rafiki's education system this far, but I am asking him to be gracious to me and let me see the RICE Program fully established in my lifetime. I do not know how long this will take but two-thirds of the curriculum is written and seven of the ten RICE buildings are done. Besides three more buildings we still need more furnishings, more computers, and lots of library books. All this will take money, and each day I look to see how much God has put in the Education Fund so that I can thank Him.

I look forward to each day to see how He wants me to walk in the works that He has prepared for me beforehand. May God bless you as you seek to walk in the works He has prepared for you.

ROSELLA PERRONE

Dear recruiter,
Attached please find my CV/resume as an indication of my genuine interest in and enthusiasm for Italian/Spanish language and/or English literature teacher position. As the CV/résumé indicates, I am a broadly experienced secondary and college level educator of Italian and Spanish languages, as well as English language and literature teacher and guide for Western European cultural studies, history, and literature. I have developed Italian and Spanish studies curricula that include literature, drama, and music and have approached language history studies from a cultural, as well as a lingual view point. I have organized and maintain language clubs. Presently I am the head of the "Opera Club" and have organized many successful events. In addition, I have provided private tutoring and via respected companies—for students in subjects that include English as a second language, English language arts, Italian, Spanish, history and social studies and test preparation. 6/17

HOWARD MERKEN

I am able to work as a 7-12 Math Teacher, 7-12 Science Teacher, and a 7-12 Theology Teacher. I was saved at nineteen, a Jewish convert to Christianity. My life since then has been one of total commitment to the gospel. My education and teaching have made me a polymath. I went to Bible school and spent seven years on the mission field, generally self-supporting. This included preaching and Sunday school ministry. With Christian education in mind, I returned to college and earned three degrees so that I could reach an academic level which would allow me to really teach the way I ought. I taught in state universities, getting my wife through graduate school. With my Christian calling in mind, I switched to Christian university teaching, which included teacher training. Then I changed to teaching Christian school, where I find that I work best with older, more motivated students in the areas of math and science. As a Bible school graduate and a former missionary, and as a husband and a father, and of course as a Christian, I see the need for education in a spiritual milieu. I do some chapels and devotionals, although I am not a song leader. Please email HMERKEN@YAHOO.COM for more information. 4/17

JOSH SKINNER

I am seeking an opportunity to share my love of theology, literature, philosophy, and history with children and young adults in a classical, Christian setting. I have 15 years of experience working with youth and children in a variety of ministerial contexts. I have a BA in English-Literature and a ThB in historical theology, and I am currently completing an MA in English Literature (Spring 2018). I love to learn as much or more than I love to teach, so I am constantly seeking opportunities to grow in my own knowledge as well as my teaching craft. subjects from a Biblical worldview, including daily prayer in the school, and developing a positive and Christ-centered school culture by emphasizing virtuous, Biblical character among the student body. I believe that the purpose of education is to help men understand what it is to be fully human and how to live in a virtuous manner so that they can influence the world for good. In America, the purpose of education should be to teach the next generation the principles that create civic virtue and to teach young people how to support and serve something greater than themselves. Classical education in America follows the example of the education of the Founding Fathers, because their education was instrumental in creating the liberty we have enjoyed since the writing of the Constitution. In order to comprehend fully the liberty created in America by the Founding Fathers and to maintain this liberty throughout subsequent generations, it is essential to implement the liberal education in our schools as that the Founding Fathers enjoyed. 4/17

MATTHEW ARTHUR TALAMINI

Position desired: Other Position, Teacher;
Subjects you can teach: 7-12 Humanities Teacher, 7-12 Literature Teacher, 7-12 Philosophy Teacher, Arts and Media Teacher, Logic Teacher, Rhetoric Teacher;
Willing to relocate to: Anywhere in US;
Lately God has laid it strongly on my heart that Christian educational institutions in the US need to be supported. As a soon-to-be graduate of an MFA program that focuses a great deal on teaching, I feel that it's important to offer my services, in case a school somewhere with a vision would be able to use somebody like me. My BA is from St. John's College in Annapolis; I am absolutely in love with the Great Books of western civilization, especially in the areas of philosophy and literature. I have worked professionally as a computer programmer; so it would not be outside my competence to teach logic or introductory computer programming courses. My current graduate program at Brown University is one of the most important centers of avant-garde and experimental literature in the US. I'm here because I believe that since we worship God the Creator, Christian literature should be more creative than secular literature. The novels and stories that I write are wildly inventive while always carrying a core philosophical payload calculated to move the heart towards God, but invisible to all but the most well-trained critical eye. (Or that's my goal, at least.) I've had a great experience teaching fiction workshops to first-year college students here at Brown, and I believe I could duplicate my successes in a high school classroom. 4/17

TRAVIS LOCKYER

Position desired: Administrator, Head of School, Other Position; Subjects you can teach: 7-12 Humanities Teacher, 7-12 Philosophy Teacher, 7-12 Theology Teacher, K-6 General Classroom Teacher; I have been in education for nineteen years, with the past seven years serving as a public elementary principal. I taught for seven years at a Christian school. Next I became a teacher and the activities director at a college-prep independent school, and now a principal. God has blessed me with the opportunity to manage and lead schools toward improvements and successes in many areas and I trust He would use those experience to benefit your school. I believe my understanding of budgets, fundraising, public relations, recruiting new families, cultivating school culture, professional development as well as the systematic implementation of curriculum, instruction, and assessment all would greatly bless a school. What excites me is the integration, instead of fragmentation, of all the practices together to create a school culture that loves learning, holds everyone to the standard of excellence, filled with grace, and all the while pursuing a love of God and others. To capitalize on the God-given stages of educational development to grow and mature each student with a love and joy for learning, beauty, and truth. Thank you for your consideration. I look forward to discussing with you further how I might serve the school. 4/17

BRITTANY LYNN CREMEAN

I am a current senior at Hillsdale College studying Political Economy with minors in Classical Education and Latin. I received my secondary education at a classical, Christian school, so I am familiar with the classical model and how, when accompanied by Christianity, it teaches students how to effectively pursue truth in light of a Christian worldview. My undergraduate years at Hillsdale have provided me with a well-rounded liberal arts education that qualifies me to teach a number of subjects. I am passionate about education, about my Christian faith, and about the integration of the two. I

ANDREW RICHARD COLPITTS

7-12 Humanities Teacher, 7-12 Literature Teacher, 7-12 Theology Teacher, Greek Teacher I highly value the Christ-centered but not “cloistered” approach to learning. All knowledge is a result of the revelation of God. Therefore learning about the world through a Christian worldview is recognize that true knowledge starts with a right understanding of who Christ is. Graduate of Westminster Theological Seminary (Master of Arts (Religion), Biblical Studies, 2016), experienced in church-setting teaching. Specialist in hermeneutics, NT Greek, OT Hebrew, and Biblical theology. Email: colpittsandrew@gmail.com. 5/17

BRYCE BRYANT GASSNER

Graduating May 2017 with a B.A. Philosophy (Political Science Minor). Also, I have taken college level Greek and Latin. Enthusiastically support the Classical Christian Education via the Great books. I strongly believe in the anthropology that the Classical Christian Education presumes. I have been personally affected and changed by the great books via the Christian approach. I have not taught formally in a classroom, but I have tutored privately the following subjects: English; Philosophy; Political Science; Logic; Algebra II and lower; Ancient Greek (advanced); Latin (Beginner). I have also coached basketball from grades 2-8 for my local community teams. Although I attended a secular university, I was blessed to have both of my formative professors to be men of Christ. Most importantly, I try to orient my whole life around Christ, and it is in the True, Good, and the Beautiful where I find Him. Email: brycegassner11@gmail.com. 5/17

CASSIDY ANNE CARSON

My name is Cassidy Carson, and I am seeking a full-time teaching position in a classical Christian school. I absolutely love being a classical teacher and I have had the privilege of watching students grow and learn beautifully under sound classical instruction for all three years since I began teaching. I am a committed, practicing Christian and I attend a Presbyterian church in Miami, where I currently live. I have taught third grade, music, art, and science all in classical schools. I have taught using a wide variety of classical curricula, and feel confident teaching all core subjects as well as music or art. Email: cassidycarson16@gmail.com. 5/17

MATIJA BUDISIN

I obtained my B.A. in Classics from Williams College, where I pursued coursework in philosophy, religious studies, and German in addition to classics, including Latin and ancient Greek. I successfully completed the University of Pennsylvania Post-Baccalaureate Program in Classical Studies. I am currently working full-time as project assistant for the redevelopment of the Schoenberg Database of Medieval Manuscripts at the Schoenberg Institute for Manuscript Studies. This work has enabled me to gain skills in digital humanities, communication, team work, critical thinking, problem-solving, organization, pacing, attention to detail, data-entry, scholarly publication copy-editing, and an ability to assess my own performance. Together with my ability to learn quickly and adapt, I hope to use these skills to help my transition into teaching. My search for teaching positions focuses around finding a Latin teaching position, however I am also interested in related fields within the humanities. I also have extensive and thorough training in fine art and classical music, having studied music at Mannes the New School for Music Preparatory Division and fine art at the Art Students' League of New York, as well as several other institutions. Email: budisinm92@gmail.com. 5/17

STEVEN VAUGHN KUHLE

I could bring a lifetime of experience and cutting edge thought to your institution. My wife and I are highly mobile at this time. We have only our one marriage between us, and we have two sons who are both working and serving the Lord in the Portland, OR area. Email at stevenvkuhlke@gmail.com is the best way to contact me. Email: stevenvkuhlke@gmail.com. 5/17

I am a Biblical Studies Teacher with nearly a decade of academic studies experience. A versatile teacher with experiences ranging from biblical theology to philosophy and archaeology of the ancient Near East. Ability to connect with students and affectively teach the various subjects of biblical studies. Please contact me at MICAHTERHUNE@GMAIL.COM for CV, and resume. 6/17

MARVIN MCCRARY

I have worked as a tutor with non-profits, public organizations, and educational institutions over the course of the last seven years. Between 2011 and 2015, I had the privilege of working with Breakthrough Silicon Valley, a non-profit which aims to help high-achieving students from urban backgrounds pursue their goals of academic success. I was their longest-serving Academic Tutor, and I worked with high schools students across every grade level. I also supervised study hall periods, and I facilitated college essay writing workshops for students. While I was an undergraduate at San Jose State University, I worked as a Peer Tutor, providing guidance and support to lower-division students in my specific areas of expertise, and offering advice on how to write essays for college courses. Between 2015 and 2017, I volunteered as an Adult Literacy Tutor with the San Jose Public Library's Partners in Reading Program. The program aimed to provide help to families and individuals whose reading abilities were below the ninth-grade level. While I was working with this program I acquired a solid understanding of reading rehabilitation, and how to improve the literacy skills of individuals who may not speak English as a primary language. It is my hope that I may find a position through which I may help more students achieve their educational goals. I believe that education should nurture the whole student, and in doing so help them grow and walk with Christ. Please email me at MCCRARY100@AOL.COM for my CV and resume. 6/17

EMILIA N/A BALOG

I am an experienced Latin Teacher who has taught in Classical Christian Schools before and who has lived in London, UK for the past seven years is looking for teaching opportunities in a Classical Christian School environment. I hold an MAR in Theology from Westminster Theological Seminary and a Bachelor degree in Biblical Studies / Greek from Liberty University. I am proficient in classical languages and passionate about the study of literature and Theology. I have written couple of books for children which are in the process of publishing. I also have a great love for children and for learning. Contact me for my resume at EMILY7717@GMAIL.COM. 6/17

TANTELY ANDRIAMANANJARA RAKOTOARISOA

There used to be a period in human history where Christian men and women constituted the majority of intellectuals. I long for a golden age of Christian thinking again, to the glory of our Lord. Obviously, christian education plays a central role for the edification of the Church and for the bettering of our society, as we are the salt of the earth. However, there are many inconsistencies between a conservative protestant education and the curriculum in North America. I am particularly interested in mathematics and logic but I started deepening my knowledge of philosophy. I have three masters in mathematics from 3 different countries, one in French, and two in English. I have taught maths at the grade 7 and 8 levels and I enjoyed it greatly. I like interacting with students and challenging them with nice maths problem. I believe this would enhance their critical thinking skills. Of course, as a reformed believer, I love theology. My long life goal is to master the original languages of the Bible, Latin and German, Lord willing. I subscribe to the Westminster Standards of 1647. Please email TANTELYANDRIAMANANJARA@GMAIL.COM for my cover letter and resume. 6/17 have a theology degree with the Australia College of Theology. As such, I am qualified to teach both mathematics and theology. In terms of church experience, I have had over 10 years experience in pastoral ministry as a teaching and ruling elder of a reformed evangelical church. I currently attend a Presbyterian church in Melbourne, Australia. I am married with two school aged boys (one in year 4 and the other one in year 7). I would love the opportunity to give my boys a classical Christian education. ## LOI TRAN

Ever since I came across classical christian education in 2006, I have tried to understand it more and see how it can be implemented here in Australia. Unfortunately, our schools are dictated by the Australian Curriculum which are not classical nor christian. I dream of the day when I could teach at a classical christian school and would love the opportunity to do so if God opens the door for me. I have over 15 years of experience teaching 7 to 12 Mathematics in both private Christian schools as well as a select entry government school (for talented and gifted students). I currently work in the select entry school, teaching mathematics to some of the brightest students in Australia. I was head of the mathematics department in two schools. My university training was a four year professional secondary mathematics education degree. In addition to my mathematics education degree, I also

Classical Christian Education in Missions in Africa as a Mission Outreach—Really? How? And Why?

Africa is home to more than 50% of all out-of-school children worldwide. In most African countries there are more than 70 students per class—students have to share textbooks, desks and in some cases, students go to school in shifts.

The continent will need to create 2.3 million new teaching positions by 2030, while filling about 3.9 million vacant positions due to attrition. That's 6.2 million new teachers needed in 13 years. We believe God has called the Rafiki Foundation to help raise the standard of education in ten African countries. We have opportunities for classically trained headmasters or teachers to help establish classical Christian education in ten countries in Africa. Rafiki is a Christian mission-sending agency working in ten English-speaking African countries. In each country we have established Rafiki Training Villages, where orphans are cared for and educated in Rafiki classical Christian schools along with local day students. Each school has the capacity for 250–350 students. In addition, Rafiki is establishing ten teacher training colleges designed to develop 1,000 new Christian classical teachers each year for Africa.

Rafiki has these opportunities for classical educators:

- Headmasters (4 openings)
- Teachers (20 openings)
- Dean of the Rafiki Institute of Classical Education (training Africans how to establish their own classical Christian school) – 5 openings

- Music educators and art educators: 10 openings

Persons suitable for this would be: retired headmasters or head of school, classical teachers or recent liberal arts college graduates. These postings are typically staffed by missionaries who commit to a minimum of two years on the field (some positions might only require one year commitment). Persons interested would have to assent to our statement of belief, our mission philosophy, and raise financial support. We are praying that God will use Rafiki to bring classical Christian education to all of Africa through our model schools. Perhaps God might give you or someone you know the opportunity to help Africans know God and raise their standard of living through classical Christian education. Please visit our website at WWW.RAFIKIFOUNDATION.ORG to learn more or contact Executive Director Karen Elliott at KARENE@RAFIKIFOUNDATION.ORG or (352) 483-9131. 3/17

Due to our continued growth, Cahaya Bangsa Classical School (CBCS) in Indonesia has some openings for the 2016–17 SY as follows: one expat teacher for language arts/rhetoric in high school and one expat teacher for language arts/rhetoric in elementary school. The qualifications of the teacher are: graduated from English literature or linguistic (bachelor's degree or higher) or certified English teacher with in TEFL, TESOL, or CELTA certificate; 25–50 years old; preferably with at least five years of experience; mature Christian; passport valid for a minimum of two years more; and a love of learning. Experiences in coaching students for thesis writing and defense will be advantageous. Cahaya Bangsa Classical School, a K–12 English-speaking school with 700 Indonesian students and a majority of local teachers, is located in Bandung, Indonesia. Applicants must have commitment to Christian classical education, a heart of missions, ability to adjust to different cultures, and strong personal references (working commitment at least two years).
