

Seurat

The Geneva School of Boerne

Boerne, TX

(sung to “The Ants Go Marching”)

There was an artist who painted with dots, Seurat, Seurat;

There was an artist who painted with dots, Seurat, Seurat.

Our eyes see colors in special ways;

It’s called pointillism to this day

And it all began in the 18–80s.

Dot . . . Dot . . . Dot . . . Dot . . . Dot . . . Dot . . . Dot . . . Dot . .

Now, one of his paintings was called “Le Cirque”

Seurat, Seurat;

Another of bathers called “Une Baignade”

Seurat, Seurat;

“Sunday Afternoon on Le Grand Jatte,”

Another painting just full of dots

And it all began in Paris, France.

Dot . . . Dot . . . Dot . . . Dot . . . Dot . . . Dot . . . Dot . . . Dot.

Comments from The Geneva School of Boerne: This is a song about Georges Seurat, a French post-impressionist painter.

For more information, contact Beverly Johnson at bjohnson@genevaschooltx.org.