MARIANA MARTINS MARTINS CORRÊA

I am a 30 years old single lady with strong Christian values. My first bachelor degree was in Nutrition, but when I finished it, I felt God directing me to education. In 2011 I was approved into the best university of Latin America and began to study education, course that took me five years to complete. In December, 2016 I got my bachelor in Education. Since 2014 I have been working here in my country as teaching assistant in English speaking schools. My native language is Portuguese, but I have a great love for the English language. I have studied it here in Brazil for some years and I developed more when I went to live in USA (I was an Au Pair from 2012 to 2013). I have always loved Christian education. I strongly believe pupils must learn to love God with all their understanding. Once, searching about it at the internet I came across a Classical Christian Education website. I realized that's what I was looking for. After that, I have read the suggested books, which made me understand more about it. I love teaching and I do feel it as God's calling for me. I need His help to shape kids minds. This is really serious. It makes me sad that, in Brazil, there are no Classical Christian Schools and

I cannot afford opening one, so I would like to go abroad to work with this. Also, my country is nowadays a bad place to live. Problems with political corruption, violence and low appreciation of education make me want to pursue a better life in another country. For cover letter and resume, email me at MARIANA.MARTINS.CORREA@GMAIL.COM. 12/17

MIKE STERN

As a teacher, I can deliver more than fourteen years of teaching experience in various environments with a diverse student population and with students both fluent in English as well as English language learners. I am passionate about history and social studies and how these disciplines can inform our perspective on life and give us a "tool box" from which we can draw a viewpoint beyond our personal experience. I work hard to craft interesting lessons which provide useful information and give students the opportunity to develop their critical thinking and writing skills. People tend to build a veneer of competence and ability and then seek jobs and activities where they can demonstrate competence with a reasonable level of enjoyment. However, the major event to inform my thinking as an adult was when I did the opposite. I moved to China, fresh out of college, to be an English teacher at a university while not being able to speak Chinese. It was the most humbling and frustrating experience that I have had as an adult when I became utterly and totally unable to communicate and read. Later, that same experience would occur when I decided to learn Chinese full time. Learning a language from zero and attempting to move to a level of competency is humiliating, frustrating, and exhausting. For a resume and cover letter, please email MXSTERN@GMAIL.COM. 12/17

I am an experienced Latin Teacher who has taught in Classical Christian Schools before and who has lived in London, UK for the past seven years working as an after school Nanny/Tutor. I am currently looking for teaching opportunities in a Classical Christian School environment. I hold a MAR in Theology from Westminster Theological Seminary and a Bachelor degree in Biblical Studies / Greek from Liberty University. I am proficient in classical languages and passionate about the study of literature and Theology. I have written couple of books for children which are in the process of being published. I have a great love for children and for learning. Contact me for my resume at EMILY7717@GMAIL.COM. 12/17

JOSHUA JOHN LABOSSIERE

"There has been a terrible destruction of words in our time," said Malcolm Muggeridge. C.S. Lewis said the advent of the machine has brought us through the biggest change in history. G.K. Chesterton addressed the devolving of society into a nonchalant admiration of heresy; I read some to my mother the other night, prompting her to ask "Wait, when was this written?" Bonhoeffer fought the Nazis. Wilberforce fought to end slavery. And I had no idea about any of it. I was, as I feel many Christians are, blind to the battle. Sixteen years of school, and I felt uneducated. People attempted to assure me otherwise, and I may have been incapable at the time of explaining myself, but I knew the truth. This nagging, or prompting perhaps, led me to begin what I have since dubbed my reeducation process, which in turn led me to discovering CCE. This is the battlefield for the minds of precious children, and for our Constitutional Republic. I want to plant schools one day. I have recently enrolled in Latin classes. I have a BA in Storytelling. I have extensive experience working with and instructing children (see resume), but not much in formal academic settings---I am applying to be a substitute teacher locally. I desire to find a school that will give me a little guidance as I get my bearing, and in return they will get everything I am as I pour myself back into it, for the sake of Christ's kingdom. I have a beautiful wife and daughter that will accompany me. We will be all-in. For a cover letter and resume, email me at JOSHUAJLABOSSIERE@GMAIL.COM. 1/18

NICHOLAS DANIEL NEWMAN

I am a recent Classics (Ancient Greek literature) Ph.D. from the University of Zurich, Switzerland with a broad educational base (my Masters degree is in Greek literature and linguistics, Latin literature and Medieval history). While my passion is to excite my students about Classics, I have maintained a rigorous agenda of scholarship, especially focused on Classical Reception. I have taught Latin, Ancient Greek and German in a wide variety of classroom settings. From the small, advanced classroom of a Swiss Gymnasium to the large general level Latin and German courses in public school and from an intermediate Ancient Greek course at a public university (the University of New Hampshire) to Latin at a small liberal arts/great books college (Northeast Catholic College). These varied experiences have molded me into an adaptive and intuitive teacher. Additionally, I have gained experience in administration. I have sat on several accreditation committees, both at the high school and collegiate levels. During the 2016-2017 school year, I organized a large "Roman Day" at Northeast Catholic College. The college students and local high schools (~120 in all) were invited to a day of interactive sessions on subjects such as: Roman religion, the Roman military, Roman food etc., and to interact with authentic Roman antiquities. This school year I hope to put this event on again, and am organizing an academic conference at the college on Classical Reception. You can reach me at USERNICK3126@MSN.COM. 1/18

I am also Adjunct Professor of Philosophy at Providence College in Providence, RI, and the Global News Editor for Christian Courier (a print and online publication associated with the Christian Reformed Church in Canada). I have significant experience teaching philosophy, theology, history and literature at both high school and university levels, and my written work has appeared in many highly respected academic publications. Most of all, I am enthusiastic about the classical Christian education movement in North America and beyond, and would count it as a privilege to shape students' hearts and minds in an ACCS institution. BILLINGS, MT

The ACCS website states that, "If the Lord reveals the need to you, He may be calling you to start a school." After about a year of reflection, contemplation, study, prayer, research, and more prayer, the time has come for me to heed this call, to move forward, and to contact the ACCS. I seek the establishment of a Classical Christian school in Billings, MT. Our children deserve the opportunity to attain a Classical Christian education. To this end they need someone to commence the beginning; they need advocates. The schools they currently attend revolve around test-taking, and predominantly focus on the production of college- and career-ready students. Our children deserve so much more. I hope that Billings has a group of parents who, themselves, have been inspired with the goodness and beauty of Classical education, and believe that our community's youth would flourish should such a school be made available. Classical Christian Education in Missions in Africa as a Mission Outreach—Really? How? And Why?

The Rafiki Foundation has established 10 classical schools across the continent of Africa. It is our hope that God will use us to bring Christian Classical education to a continent whose educational system is suffering.

We are looking for educators who can work as missionaries and can commit to a minimum of two years on the field. An ideal candidate will have a Bachelor's degree in their select subject, a love for teaching, a heart for missions, and the adaptability that mission's work requires. The candidate should be a seasoned Christian who seeks to grow in knowledge, wisdom, and grace while also encouraging this growth in others.

Rafiki has these opportunities for classical educators:

Headmasters (4 openings)

Teachers (20 openings)

Dean of the Rafiki Institute of Classical Education (teacher training)– 5 openings

Music educators: 10 openings

Art educators: 10 openings

Persons interested would have to assent to our statement of belief, our mission philosophy, and raise financial support. We are praying that God will use Rafiki to bring classical Christian education to all of Africa through our model schools. Perhaps God might give you or someone you know the opportunity to help Africans know God and raise their standard of living through classical Christian education. Please visit our website at www.rafikifoundation.org to learn more or contact Executive Director Karen Elliott at karene@rafikifoundation.org or (352) 483-9131. 11/17
